BIO:

T. Davis is a Nashville-based singer-songwriter known for his unique blend of country, funk, southern soul and Americana: funk-try / soul-mericana. Born and raised in eastern North Carolina, the great-grandson of a tobacco farmer, grandson of a bassist, and son of a drummer, he's been steeped in the southern musical tradition since childhood. Two decades of performing professionally along the East Coast eventually led him to Nashville, where he's synthesized his signature fusion of soul, blues, country, and folk into a sound audiences have described as "Teddy Swims meets Chris Stapleton."
